A Female Confidence Game

The Two Would-Be Suicides on the

The Board of Trade Sends a Telegram-The Call fornia Central to Open an Office at Santa Barbara-Mrs. Quinby to Be Arrested for Cruelty, Etc.

Another female confidence operator is at work here, and her tactics, although old enough elsewhere, seem sufficiently new here to catch a great many victims. She is about 25 years old, trim, petite and rather pretty, with noticeable curly hair. The scheme which she has been suc-cessfully working, is as follows: She goes into some store where there are male clerks, does some trading and gets acquainted with them. She then becomes very friendly and artfully leads each to believe that his conquest is "solid." She then suddenly reveals the fact that she is hard up—has debts which her hushand doesn't known about, and which it would make him very angry to discover. Can her "dear friend" lend her $7.50 or $10? He "will never, regret it." Sometimes this modest request is made in person; sometimes in a very affectionate note. One of these notes, in which the fair isher of men signs herself "The Little One," has been seen by a Times reporter. It was received by a gentleman who is too old a bird to be caught by such chaff. She has better luck in general, however, and has secured a large number of loans from confident lotharies. To their horror and disgust, no sooner would she pocket the loan than she would become colder than Alpine snows. They could not touch her with a forty-foot pole; in fact, she would hardly recognize them. The number of suckers she has caught is astonishing.

A REASONABLE REQUEST.

The Board of Trade Wishes Justice The following telegram was sent yester

The following telegram was sent yester day:

Los Angeles (Cal.), Sept. 5, 1887.—To State Board of Equalization, Sacrument, Cal.: The Los Angeles Board of Trade, representing the mercantile interests of this city and county: and expressing the unanimous sentiments of our people, ask your Honorable Board, as a matter of justice and right, that the assessment of the counties of San Francisco, Alameda, Santa Clara, San Joaquin, Sacramento and others, be raised to their full cash value, or that of Los Angeles county be reduced. We are assessed full value. Raise them proportionately to tull value and let ours stand, or reduce ours proportionately and let their's stand. At our valuation, San Francisco should be from $400,000,000 to $500,000,000.

WILL PULL THROUGH. The Two Would-Be Suicides Slowly

Recovering.

A Times reporter called at Mrs. Brown's residence. No. 18 Mayo street, yesterday afternoon and found the lady slowly, but surely, improving from the effects of the polson imbibed Sunday evening during a fit of anger against her husband. E. A. Flintjer, who attempted snigle on Saturday morning who attempted suicide on Saturday morning last, was resting easily last evening. Dur-ing the day he suffered somewhat from con-jestion of the kidneys. Dr. Robbins, who jestion of the kinneys. Br. Robbins, who is attending him, applied remedies and has no doubt of the patient's ultimate recovery. Flintjer said when a reporter called on him, that he "thought the Nadeau House would be about as high-toned a place to take a final departure from as any where in the city."

A NEW DEAL. A California Central Railway Office Placed at Santa Barbara.

John L. Truslow, the well-known and popular railroader so long in responsible positions in the employ of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railroad, has gone H. B. Wilkins, General Freight and Passer ger Agent of the California Central Rail-way, and approved by Vice-President C. W. Smith, announces a new and important dea Smith, announces a new and important deal taking effect today. The California Central will open an office at Santa Barbara and Mr. Truslow will take charge as general agent, attending to freight and passenger business. His office will be on State street. Mr. Truslow starts tomorrow for Santa Barbara to assume his new duties. The Barbareños will find him at horough railroader and a thorough gentleman.

BROWN'S WAITERS.

The Old Gentleman Gives Them a Surprise Party. The strike at Brown's restaurant has had some new phases. It will be remembered that the waiters went out day before yesterday because Mr. Brown would not discharge a Chinaman. Yesterday Mr. Brown hired the strikers again on satisfactory terms, and all went smoothly until a corps of !negro waiters appeared on the scene. Mr. Brown then called the ex-strikers up, paid them off and discharged them. He said: "You can go. I have a corps of darkies now. If they can't hold it, I'll get girls; and if the girls can't hold it, by G—d. I close the house!"

More of the stolen property found on the urglars, Munroe and Sheely, has been lentified. Miss S. R. Monks, of the Normal School, left here in June for a trip East. During that time the school has been renovated and painted. Monroe was employed in the capacity of painter, and articles were stolen, though they were not missed until yesterday.

a Aliss Monks was informed by a friend that a list of articles had been published in The Times, and some handkerchiefs were medioned, on which was Miss Monks' name. She called yesterday on Deputy Constable Hunter. Not only did she find several dozen fine handkerchiefs, but also a rubber gossamer, a satchel, gold pencil, and some minor articles were identified as belonging to her.

The Quinby Case.
Officer Wright, of the Humane Society, has arranged with the relatives of old man Quinby, whose hardships have been reported in these columns, for them to take care of the old fellow until he is ready to cross the river of death. A warrant was issued for Mrs. Quinby yesterday charging her with cruelty to animals, and she will probably be arrested today.

"No answer," said Officer Collins, and Officer Auble was sworn to tell the truth as to why O'Lafferty's name should be thus publicly announced, and the reasons why his presence should be required in conrt.

It appears that a man giving his name as deorge Doe and a friend were having a quiet conversation on Alameda street, when O'Brien O'Lafferty was so impolite as to chip in his opinion on the subject. For this breach of etiquette he was promptly knocked down, and afterward had she misfortune to be arrested for being inebriated. O'Brien not showing up, his bail of $10 was declared forfeited.

Officers McKeag, Leverich and Lee were present, and it is whispered their presence had something to do with the prize fight not coming off.

Carr was arrested for selling liquor without a license, and although the officers swore yesterday in court that Carr did sell whisky, McKeag testifying that he drank some of it, Carr as persistently swore that he did not. Justice Austin was inclined to disbelleve Carr's statement and fined him $10, which was paid.

H. B. Keeler, district freight and passenger agent of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé, whose headquarters are in Wichita, Kan., came in Sunday night, and left for San Diego last evening. Owing to Mrs. Keeler's poor health, Mr. K. will change his residence to Los Angeles; and there is a rumor in rallroad circles that he will accept a somewhat similar position in California, with headquarters at Los Angeles. Mr. Keeler says that good land and booms can be found in Kansas, but climate, health and booms, all together, are to be found only in Southern California.

He Getts Left. Several hours' time was consumed yester-day in the trial of J. Getts, who caused quite a commotion in Chinatown last week by throwing a stone through a shoemaker's window, and afterwards knocking a heathen window, and afterwards knocking a heathen or two down. A great many witnesses were examined on both sides, after which a lengthy argument took place. The case being only that of assault, hardly merited so much trouble, and the ruling of the Court seemed to bear this out. Justice Austin found the defendant guilty as charged, and will sentence Getts today.

ANOTHER HOTEL.

The Tenth and Main-Street Proposition.

Earnest Meeting of Interested Citizens Last Night.

Three Hundred and Eighty-seven Thousand Dollars

Already Subscribed for It, and the Good Work Going Steadily Ahead-Prospect This the City's Great Want Will Be Fully Filled.

At 7:30 o'clock last night the pleasant parlors of Engine-house No. 2 was thrown open for the gentlemen who were to meet to discuss the new hotel-site, at Tenth and Main streets.

Precisely at 8 o'clock, W. D. Stevenson made a motion that Dr. Hagan be called to the chair; the motion was unanimously carried. The Doctor, after a few remarks of thanks, took the chair.

Mr. Lewin nominated E. H. Owens for Secretary; as there were no other nomi-nees, his election was made unanimous.

Secretary; as there were no other nominees, his election was made unanimous.

The Chair called upon Mr. Stevenson to state the object of the meeting, which that gentleman did in the most concise manner. He said that they were much disappointed in the way the St. Vincent party had acted in regard to the $100,000 already subscribed at the former meeting, and that the object they had tonight was to construct a hotel in any event, even if it cost a million.

Mr. Lovell then took the floor, and stated that they would proceed to incorporate a hotel company, as was also part of the object of the meeting.

The question arose as to how much had already been subscribed. The lists were handed in and looked over, and the Secretary reported $396,000 subscribed up to date.

Mr. Howland's motion, to appoint committees to perfect the organization of the corporation and on subscriptions, was carried. The following three gentlemen were appointed by the Chair to act on the organization committee: Messrs. White, Stevenson and Howland.

J. W. Hinton made a few suggestions in the grant of the organization of already subscribed, to do so.

The following is the form of the new list:

present and had not already subscribed, tado so.

The following is the form of the new list:
"Los ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 3, 1887.
"We, the undersigned, hereby subscribe the amounts placed opposite our respective mames, to be taken by us in stock in the corporation to be formed for the erection of an hotel on the corner of Main and Tenth streets, in Los Angeles, upon the following conditions, viz:

an hotel on the corner of Main and Tents streets, in Los Angeles, upon the following conditions, viz:

"First—That those tracts of land in Los Angeles, of uniform width and depth, the one fronting 300 feet on both Main and Los Angeles streets, and about 335 feet on Tents street; and the other being opposite to the first described tract, fronting 100 feet on Los Angeles street, and extending easterly about 150 feet, be deeded to said corporation, and in lieu thereof; $150,000 in stock to be delivered to the owners of said lands.
"Second—That said hotel will cost not less than $500,000.
"Third—That all the sums subscribed by us shall be due and payable as follows: One-fourth thereof on each of the following dates: November 1, 1887; February 1, 1885; May 1, 1888, and August 1, 1888, respectively."

There was $5000 more added to this list, and many signified their willingness to double their subscriptions when the committee came to them.

A. W. Bennett then requested that the Secretary be called upon to read the names of the subscription committee, which are as follows:

of the subscription committee, which are as follows:
Messrs, Owens, Rhodes, Hanberry, Urqudies, McIntosh, Cutter, Dietrich, Wilson, Lovell, Jacoby, Lewin, Hagan, Broderick, Mott, Shaffer, Rowan, Sabichi and Kerckhoff. This completed the list. The Chair then added the following gentlemen, upon suggestions from many of the gentlemen present: Messrs, Charnock, Jereslaw, O'Dea, Cohn, Barrett, Hinton, Rilley and Day. Day.
The Chairman then made ready to bear any remarks.

Capt. Barrett thought that a million dollar hotel, if situated in any part of the city, would enhance the value of every piece of property in Los Angeles.

Judge E. M. Ross then took the floor, and in some well-chosen language told how precessary it was to have good hotels and In the discharge of his duties at Merced Hall on Saturday night, appeared before Justice Austin yesterday for trial. Mr. France has a big basso voice, and glying it full vent he informed the Court that he wished further time in which to procure witnesses, which was granted. He was put under $100 bonds, and he sat in the dock for a long time ere his fellow soldiers of the "army" raked that amount together to secure his release.

Tardy Solicitude.

David Wilson, who treated his family so cruelly, and whose wife was obliged to find refuge at the Women's Home, yesterday wrote a letter to his wife, of which the following is an exact copy: "My Dear wife for God sake Martha tell me how the bay is these papers is driving me crasey send Jamey or Dave up. DAvID WILSON." Mrs. Wilson sent her husband word that for twelve years he had treated her brutally, and that she wished to have nothing more to do with him.

A noisy individual who was under the influence of "the cup that cheers," strolled into the wholesale grocery house of Castruccio Bros., 30 North Main street, yesterday afternoon, and proceed to try and own the business. Judge Ross' speech was the means of giving an additional impetus to the new list just started.

Rabbi Schreiber said that Los Angeles must have good hotels. He then made a comparison between Denver and this city. In Denver they have but one-twentieth of the travel we have here, yet they have three good hotels and one in process of erection, to cost $1,500,000.

J. S. Van Doren favored good, first-class hotels in every section of the city. He wanted them large, and said we cannot have too many to accommodate the travel. It being 9 o'clock, a motion to adjourn was made by Mr. Lovell. After fixing the next meeting for Friday evening, September 9th, at "30 o'clock, the gentiemen all retired, well satisfied with the evening's work. The Times reporter present learned that there was $10,000 added on the new list opened at the meeting. The subscription committee held a secret meeting at 9:30 o'clock last night.

August Easner and Frank Young were arrested yesterday by Officer Ribble for carrying on the saloon business on the corner of Wilmington and Commercial streets without a license. The men stated that they had applied for a permit and license on the 1st of the month, and supposed they had done all that was necessary, though the permit had not been signed on account of Mr. Breed's absence. Testimony was taken, and Justice Austin decided that no offense had been committed. The parties had, in the meantime, procured a license.

pretty solid charge upon the enemy yesterday.

Mr. Montalio yesterday presented three documents to the Board of Supervisors. The first was a sommunication, to the following effect:

Being absent from the city when Mackenzie's damaging report was made, I take the first opportunity to answer.

Desiring to clear myself from the infamous, unjust and false charges Mackenzie brought against me, I requested you to employ an expert accountant of you own choice, to examine the books and accounts of my office, and report to you. You appointed William R. Blackman, expert accountant, one of the most reliable and accurate gentlemen in his line.

In the first charge Mackenzie said: "I would beg leave to report as to the County Auditor. He is the key-note to all county officers, but that note is out of tune. Two years age his books were in good shape, today they are in a miserable condition; erasures of all kinds, moneys transferred from one fund to another, which are wrong and subsequently have been rectified."

Mr. Blackman reports:

"I find everything in these books to be sorrectly entered and accounted for. There are no transfers made without a corresponding authority."

Mackenzie, in treating of the road fund, says:

"His road fund books are not correct in-vidually; in the aggregate they are, but et such a state of affairs should not exist."

"His road fund books are not correct individually; in the aggregate they are, but yet such a state of affairs should not exist."

Mr. Blackman reports:

"The road fund accounts, as kept in the auditor's books, are individually, as well as in the aggregate, correct."

The Grand Jury also seem to have taken said Mackenzie for their legal advisor, on the law establishing the duties of this office. By referring to his report you will see that he makes a lengthy and rambling statement, claiming that it was my duty, under the law, so enforce final settlements with the Tax Collector on the first Monday of January and March respectively. In answer to that, I beg leave to copy a few extracts from the Revenue Laws, Political Code, which prescribes the duties of the Tax Collector.

[He here notes several sections of the law, fortifying his position.]

A SHICT AFFIDAVIT.

The second document filed by Mr. Montaño was the following affidavit:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, S.S.

A. A. Montaño, being duly sworn, deposes and says: That he is, and has been, since the 5th day of January, 1885, the duly elected and qualified Auditor of said county; that on or about the middle of the month of July, A.D., 1887, and while the Grand Jury of said county was in session in the city of Los Angeles, said county and State, one J. S. Mackenzie, representing himself to be an expert of said Grand Jury, appeared at the effice of the Auditor of said county two or three times, for the purpose, as he claimed, of examining the books, accounts, vouchers, etc., of said office; that with the exception of a partial examination of one single account, such as a series, of said office; that he could not have done so without affiant was not present, his books and accounts were safely locked in his safe.

Affiant further says that at the times hereinbefore set forth, said J. S. Mackenzie handle affiant was not present, his books and accounts were safely locked in his safe.

Affiant further says that at the times hereinbefore set forth, said J. S. Mackenzie was staggering considerably, and had the appearance of a man acting greatly under the influence of liquor.

Expert W. R. Blackman's report is to the following effect:

I have made a careful and complete examination of the books of the County Auditor, together with all the vouchers pertaining thereto, covering the period from September 1, 1886, to June 10, 1887. I find everything in these books to be correctly entered and accounted for. All transfers ordered by your board to be made from one fund to another are made upon the books, the veracity of which I have ascertained by reference to the minute books of your board meetings. There are no transfers made without a corresponding authority. The accounts are clearly kept, and, as far as I can see, quite as well kept as they have ever been; the system adopted by the Auditor being simple, so simple and plain that the history of each fund is contained in the achieved of the property of the contained in the achieved and is not an exhibition of figures simple, so simple and pain that the very of each fund is contained in the actissif and is not an exhibition of figures. I have examined the fee books of the Sheriff, County Recorder and the County Clerk, and the monthly totals agree with the settlements made by those officers with the Auditor, all of which are verified by the Treasurer's vouchers; the footings are in every respect correct in the books of the Sheriff and County Recorder, as certified to by the Auditor, while those in the books of the Clerk are in reality correct, there being only four small differences—one at page 10 casts $1 more, but I find a note calling attention to an entry put in after the addition was made; at page 87 the column foots 50 cents more; at page 89 the column foots 50 cents more. In this column there is one entry of $1.50, but the 5 is so uncertain as to form that any one might pass it over; the difference is, therefore, $1 in the aggregate, which is accounted for by the Clerk in the subsequent month.

Room 21, Wilson Block, Los Angeles. FACTS ABOUT FULLERTON.

Pullerton is a town site on the San Diego division of the Santa Fé Rallroad, twenty-three miles southwest of Los Angeles and three miles north of Anaheim. It is a regular station on that railway and all trains will stop there.

ADVANTAGES.

Pullerton has the most productive country iributary to it of any new town site laid out in Southern California; the country around is noted for its fertile soil and the great abundance of water. The water is derived from the Anaholm ditch, which, as is well known, is the most copious supply in Southern California. Oranges grow to the greatest perfection. The famous Gliman ranch adjoins the townsite of Fullerton. The Gliman place is the "show" walnut grove in the State, visitors being taken there from all parts of the country and shown it as a sample of what can be done in the way of having a perfect walnut grove. Oranges and limes from this section are noted throughout the State as being the finest produced anywhere, and commanding the top market price. Land in the vicinity of Fullerton is still at a very reasonable figure, as the country is comparatively little known, being at present out of the way of the general lines of travel. With the advent of the Santa Fé Railroad, which is expected within ninety days, property will advance very materially, as It will then first be introduced to many seeking productive lapd at lower prices than that asked for in and about Pasadena.

OSTRICHES.

COMMONWEALTH AVENUE

Immense deposits of oil and asphaltum occur in the neighborhood.

PRICES OF LAND.

Ordinary land without water can be purchased for from $75 to $200 per acre; best land with water at $350 to $700 per acre, and there is but little doubt that all this land will sell readily at $1000 per acre within six months readily at $1000 per acre within six months from date.

IMPROVEMENTS IN THE TOWN OF FULLERTON. A $25,000 betel is now in course of erection and will be finished within ninety days; two other $10,000 brick buildings are now contracted for and will be finished within the same time. A bank with $10,000 capital is incorporated, and will put up a $15,000 pressed-brick building immediately. Quite a number of houses are now in course of construction upon brick buildings being erected thereon immediately.

A cement sidewalk six feet wide is now being laid upon all the principal streets; water piped in heavy iron pipes and under good pressure through the streets.

PRICES OF LOTS.

PAICES OF LOTS.

Lots range in price from $150 to $700; all streets are graded and there is not an undesirable lot in the entire townsite, as the ground is perfectly level, with a slight fall from the foothills.

Pullerton being but eight miles from the ocean, gets the sea breese much sooner than towns on the other side of the foothill, thus producing a lower temperature in summer, and at the same time the proximity to the ocean causes a more equal and warmer temperature. causes a more equal and ure in winter. ierton has the best soil, the best water, est climate, the largest and most produciertiory tributary to it, the best railroad ties, and there is more cash being exed in it on permanent improvements than my new town in Southern California. r prices of town lots and sore preperty, in the case of the case

Tue terrible loss of life at the burn ing of the Theater Royal, at Exeter England, last night, seems to have been due to an entire lack of proper methods of exit from the building.

THE great whisky conspiracy in the Northwest, as described from official sources in Sunday's TIMES, has again attracted wide attention. It is a startling chapter of crime.

THE San Bernardino Courier claims that it has demonstrated that San Ber-nardino is the third city in Southern California, and that, were her corporate limits extended so as to include her suburbs, the second city.

Irex-Gov. Pattison goes into the Cabet in place of Lamar, the change will be a good one for the country. It is not seemly, in the eyes of the patriotic por tion of the country, that an ex-rebel that issues pensions to the veteran sol-diers who saved the country that Mr. Lamar tried to destroy.

THE revenue robbers are significantly and discreetly silent on the sensitive subject of that twenty thousand gallon or so. Likewise one hundred and twenty-five gallons, of crooked whisky, which formed the basis of certain pointed observations by the United States Grand Jury, at Chicago, once upon a time. Why is this thus?

OUR Board of Trade puts squarely at the State Board of Equilization the question of either reducing the assess ent of Los Angeles county, or raising the assessments of San Francisco, Alameda, and other northern counties. preportionately, so as to produce an equitable result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall into San Francisco bay!

Concerning Mr. Waterman-Again.

The recent small ruction over the supersensitive subject of Waterman has about subsided. The Times was assailed with some feeble virulence by a disappointed, vicious and hypocritical contemp. for having pub-lished and commented upon certain dispatches from its San Diego correspondents reporting some not creditable utterances that fell from Mr. Waterman's unpadlocked lips touch-ing the dying Governor and the prospectively vacant governorship. Heated denials of the truthfulness of these dispatches were frantically sent out by the Lieutenant-"Guv." and his super-Trues proceeded to vindicate the rethe truthfulness of their reports to this paper. More denials have been "hurled," but there has been absolutely no attempt made to impeach The Trurs' San Diego correspondent. It cannot be done. Meantime the pressoritiesms of Mr. Waterman's improper be done. Meantime the press ms of Mr. Waterman's improper ge have been general and starp.

The Wheeling incident, where there were sharp words uttered at the soldiers' reunion over questions that ought not to have been revived, because long since settled by the arbitrament of the sword, has attracted attention through out the country. The press, north and and reason to do. If their duty to the em-bodiment of law and authority is evoked, they will meet it. If their feeling toward the individual is challenged, they will not hesitate to show it. That is what the demonstration at Wheeling means. . . . You cannot frame an indictment against a whole people: and if anybody wants to indict and condemn the Grand Army, let his try to all the uses the and outh, has spoken upon the matter, taking sides according to political predilections, as was to be expected, inasmuch as the meeting suddenly and un-expectedly took a political turn when Wilson, the Democratic candidate for Governor of West Virginia, boldly endeavored to place the soldiers who fought against the country on a level tisan who stands ready to arraign the soldier with those who fought for its preswith those who fought for its preservation. This assumption was promptly resented by Gov. Foraker, of Ohio, and he delivered then and there what has been called by one correspondent the best speech of his life, a synopsis of which has already been reproduced in these columns. The incident has unfortunately had the effect of causing more feeling in the ranks of the Grand Army of a political character than any one thing that has happened since its organization twenty years ago. This body was, and is intended to be, strictly non-partisan, and, as a rule, has been honestly so throughout. But this fact does not mean that the mouths its members were intended closed upon political questions. Such a thing would his duties as the immediate head of the be impossible and un-American. It was not peace and order. organized for the purpose of keeping The vicious elements. alive the memories of the great struggle without any reference to the cause for which the contending armies fought, respectively. The veteran soldiers who compose the Grand Army do not band themselves together in these post-bellum times for the mere purpose of celebrat war and battles as such, without reference to what that war and those battles were fought for. By no means. To do such a thing would be to leave out the great moving, inspir ing principle that sends the patriot to the defense of his country when in danger. it would be to degrade war to a mere brute contest, wherein each embattled side would primarily have for its base object the overthrow of the other for the sake of vengeance, territorial acquisition, or plunder. It would, in short, degrade war mercenary employment taking away from it all its higher and nobler features, which alone make it justifiable between nations and sec tions. The Grand Army of the Republic, then, was not organized for the purpose of either suppressing, concealing or ignoring the objects, purposes or character of the mighty contest waged between the sections a quarter of a entury ago.

It was organized, on the contrary, for the express purpose, among other things, of keeping alive the memories of the war cherished by the Union soldiers themselves, of encouraging loyalty to the National Government and Constitution, and of preserving unimpaired the priceless achievements of the war won by the national arms

The Grand Army, in short, takes boldly the broad ground that in the great contest of arms between the Naion and its internecine enemies, "we were eternally right and they were eternally wrong," as great Garfield once felicitously expressed it.

On no other ground can the Grand Army stand and exist. Without this tirmly established principle to fortify its position, the organization would be on a footing of sand, and could not erect; it could not survive Better that it should die a death of use ss than attempt to live without this life-giving principle to sustain it.

Let the enemies of the Grand Army recognize and apply this truth! It cannot be put down!

Litigation Over the Ortiz Estate-Mrs. Von to be Tried at Once-Terrific Explosion – Ben-son's Case.

By Telegraph to The Times

SAN-FRANCISCO, Sept. 5.—[By the Associated Press.] In the matter of the settlement of the estate, in this city, of the wealthy Spanish Celedonia Ortiz, who died lately in Madrid, Judge Coffey has decided a point of much interest which had been made the subject of elaborate argument. made the subject of elaborate argument. Miss Julia Ortiz, an unmarried daughter, had obtained letters of administration here, although Señor Vincent Caogigal had been appointed executor in the will. He appeared appointed executor in the will. He appeared here lately, and petitioned for revocation of the letters granted Miss Ortiz, on the ground that there had been no proper and formal hearing of her original application for the same. It appeared, from the files that, in accordance with custom, the day for the hearing of Miss Ortiz application had been filed by the Clork of the Constitution of the same and the constitution of the same and hearing of Miss Ortiz application had been filed by the Clerk of the Court instead of by the Judge. The Civil Code enjoins thi duty upon the clerk in all cases of domestic wills, but in case of authenticated foreign wills, the code provides that the "court or judge must appoint the time for the hearing." The section of the code touching domestic wills also imposed this duty on the court or judge down to 1881, when it was changed so as to devolve the duty upon the clerk. It is generally believed by lawyers that when this change was made by the Legislature, the like provision in the section on foreign wills was overlooked, or it, too, would have been altered, while some contend that there were deliberate reasons for not changing the text of 'the last section.

Judge Coffey held that the section as to foreign wills, means just what it says—that the court or judge must fix the day for hearing. This, however, does not settle the contest between the foreign executor and Miss Ortiz. The latter will apply again for letters of administration with the will annexed, and the respective merits of her application and that of Señor Caogingal will yet be the subject of inquiry, argument and decision. The value of the entire estate is estimated at over $1,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—[By the Associciated Press.] It is estimated that 5000 doctors are present at the International Medical Congress there, of whom ninetenths are Americans. Before the hour for opening the congress this morning every seat in the Albaugh Opera-house was occupied. President Cleveland, Secretary Bayard and Speaker Carlisle were escorted by Dr. Garnett to seats upon the stage at 11 o'clock and were greeted with applanse. The assemblage was called to order by Prof. Henry M. Smith, of Philadelphia, Chairman of the Executive Committee. In a few remarks he introduced President Cleveland, who he said had consented to open the meeting.

President Davis next introduced Secretary of State Bayard, who welcomed the Congress to Washington in an eloquent address, and said, in part:

In your profession we recognize the noblest school of human usefulness, and in the progress of the development of the laws of the cure and mitigation of suffering, the prolongation of human existence and efforts to discover the true principles and conditions by which life can be made worth living, we have learned to appreciate our debt to those whose highest reward is the still small voice of gratitude and the consciousness of benefaction to the human race."

The welcome was acknowledged and responded to briefly by Dr. William Harris Lloyd, Inspecter General of the Royal Navy, in behalf of Great Britain, Dr. Leon La Forte of Paris on behalf of France, Prof. P. It should go without saying that Charles Summer was never guilty of profanity. Yet he was tolerant of those of his associates who, like Senator Wade, when righteously indignant, would drop with great vigor into the vernacular of his early days.

Once, when the Senator from Ohio had made the air sulphurous and lurid with his picturesque profanity over a peculiarly exasperating and disastrous performance in negrophobia of one of our generals, a milk and water sort of our generals, a milk and water sort of person, who sneered, in his absence, at old Ben's language, was checked by Summer's stare, and by his saying: "Could you have given a better expression of our opinion?"

"But the oaths," was the reply.

"Still, if it had to be done," said the Senator, "you will admit that it was well done."

The President, when the applause had subsided, said: "I feel that the country should be congratulated today upon the presence at the capital of so many of our own citizens, and those representing foreign countries, who have distinguished themselves in the science of medicine and ardevoted to its further progress. My duty, on this occasion, is a very pleasing and a very brief one. It is simply to declare that the Ninth International Medical Congress is now open for organization, and for the transaction of business."

The Chairman of the Executive Committee the proceeded to nominate the gentle men agreed upon by the committee to be officers of the congress. Dr. Nathan Smith Davis, of Chicago, was chosen president of the congress by acclamation.

VICTIMS OF FIRE.

A Theater at Exeter, England, Burned.

Terrible Scenes of Panic and Death in Many Forms. One Hundred and Thirty Charred

Bodies Taken from the Ruins. Twenty More Victims Die in the Hospital-Only

London, Sept. 5.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] The theater at Exeter took fire this evening during the performance of the Romany Ryc. The occupants of the pit, after an awful struggle, escaped, but many of them were greatly injured. There was only one exit from the gallery and the crush there was terrific. Scores were trodcrush there was terrific. Scores were trou-den under foot and suffocated. A fire escape was brought to the window and many inside were rescued. Sixty corpses have been re-moved. The mortality is estimated at 100.

AN AWFUL SCENE.

The fire blazed up, lighting the whole city. People were soon flocking to the scene in thousands, inquiring for friends. The scene inside the theater when the fire broke out was an awful one. Some men implored the audience to be calm, but it was impossible to check the frantic rush. The theater hose was brought into use in a few minutes, but the water had little effect on the flames.

Actors and actresses were taken from the windows with the aid of ladders. They lost everything except what they were at

There are various reports as to the origin of the fire. It is only certain that the flames broke out in the scenery shifters' department.

THOSE WHO ESCAPED say that the special exit was properly opened. The fire brigade arrived a few minutes after the breaking out of the flames, but the efforts of the firemen were without avail. There were several thrilling rescues. A majority of the victims were men and boys.

AROUT THIRTY WOMEN WERE BURNED.

When the fire started a drop scene was lowered to prevent a draught. Some of the actors opened the door to escape, causing the fire to burst through the drop scene and to ignite the galiery. The flames overtook-the people who were wedged into an immovable mass and roasted them to death. Many who were rescued alive died soon after being brought out of the burning building. The occupants of the dress circle escaped without serious harm.

The structure burned was the Theater Royal and it was built after the latest designs and was elaborately furnished, being considered one of the prettiest in the kingdom. There was a full house tonight, and everything was all right until the end of the third act, at half past 10, when the drop scene fell and in a moment the whole stage was a mass of fire.

ensued. Occupants of the stalls, pit and dress-circle escaped after a dreadful crushing, many being badly bruised. The actors and actresses were in their dressing-rooms when the fire began and all escaped.

The fire originated in the flies and spread rapidly, filling the theater with a dense smoke. The occupants of the upper circle and gallery rushed to the windows screaming frantically. Many jumped from the windows and were injured. Others were rescued with the aid of ladders from the varandas.

ONE HUNDRED AND THIRTY DEAD.

LONDON, Sept 6—Morning.—Up to the present time 130 bodies have been recovered. They are almost unrecognizable. Thirty injured survivors have been taken to the hospital. The fire burned throughout the night. The search for the bodies proceeds slowly. In many cases every shred of ciothing is burned off and the bodies look black and raw.

THE FIRE UNDER CONTROL. A telegram from Exeter at 5 o'clock this morning says that the fire is under control, and people distracted with anxiety are standing about the streets in the neighbor hood of the theater in search of friends who attended last night's performance.

TWENTY MORE VICTIMS.

The hospitals are besieged by anxious inquiries for friends. Twenty badly-burned persons who were admitted to the hospital fied a few minutes after they owere received.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

This has been demonstrated in thousands of cases treated by DR. WILLIAMS, With his new system of Medicated Inhalations combined with proper constitutional remedies for the liver, atomach, blood, etc.

Probably nesystem of practice ever adopted has been so universally successful as that introduced by Dr. Williams for the cure of Caterrh, Throat Discasses, Bronchitis, Asthmatarrh, Throat Discasses, Bronchitis, Asthmatarrhy.

CATARRH.

CATARRH.

Catarrh is often regarded by the patient as a cold in the head, and be often expresses his astonishment at his remarkable tendency to contract a fresh cold; indeed, he declares that he is scarcely free from one celd before he takes another, and cet he is always exceedingly careful; it is also a matter of surprise to him that the cold always seems to settle in the head and threat.

At times many of the symptoms of Catarrh may seem to abate, and the patient is led to hope that the disease is about to wear off; but snother class of symptoms soon appears, and he learns to his horror that instead of recovery from the disease, it is somewhat changed in its character and has extended to the throat. A sense of weariness is sometimes felt in reading, speaking or singing, hoarseness at times occurs, a sensation of dryness is felt in the throat, or it appears that some oreign subs tance, as for instance, as lar, obtructed the throat; there becomes a sense of ness at times occurs, a creation of dryness is felt in the throat, or it appears that some oreign subs tance, as, for instance, a hair, obtuncted the throat: there becomes a sense of languor and fatigue, the breath lessens upon a little exertion, a short, hacking cough, a peculiar sound in clearing the throat, a feeling as though there was not room enough in the chest to breathe; these and other symptoms occur after the disease has made considerable progress. Then it is a time when consumption is about to begin to dreadful work. Up to this time to begin to dreadful work may have been slow, and the patient means a present of the confident hope that it will "wear of," declar that he has had the catarrh for years, and trusts that he will "by-and-by" receiver. But this delusion is the grand error shich has peopled our cemeteries with consumptive forms, as all ferms of catarrh end finally in consumption.

Last night when the change of watch was Last night when the change of watch was called at the police station, at 8 o'clock, Capt. P. M. Darcy, the newly-elected Chief of Police, was present to take charge of the office and to assume the duties for which he was elected by the City Council yesterday afternoon. Capt. Tyler entered the prison-keeper's inclosure and, stepping on a chair, said he wished to make a few remarks before calling the roll. In brief, he said:

K. Skinner, who is about to leave you, has requested me to tender you his thanks for the manner in which you have acted with him during his connection with this department. He is here in person, but is too much overcome to talk to you himself. For myself, I simply have to say that I go out with Chief Skinner, and I hope that whoever may be my successor, as captain of this force, will be treated with the same respect that you have shown me."

He then called the roll, and the officers K. Skinner, who is about to leave you, has may be my successor, as captain of this force, will be treated with the same respect that you have shown me."

He then called the roll, and the officers turned toward Chief Skinner- and Chief Darcy, who were standing together in the private office door. Chief Darcy stepped forward, and said in a manly tone of voice that he did not intend to make a speech. "But," said he, "I have been selected as your chief, and I expect nothing from you except that you do your duty, and that I will exact in all cuses. I shall try to do my duty by the city, and I expect you to do the same." The officers were then dismissed, and each one seemed to be well satisfied with the remarks of their new chief. As they passed out, each one pressed ex-Chief Skinner's hand and bade him good-bye. Chief Darcy was seen by a Times reporter, and stated that he only accepted the office with the conditions that he was to be Chief of Police in every respect. He will not make any changes in the running of the office until after he becomes better acquanted with the men, and understands what they are capable of doing. It will probably be two or three days before he appoints a captain, as he has not yet had time to pick out the best man.

ST. VIBIANA,

THE PATRON SAINT OF THE CATHEDRAL, EULOGIZED.

An Interesting Sermon by Rev.
Cesari on "The Faith" and Those Who Have Freely Suffered for Its Sake.

The Rev. Don M. Cesari preached at 8 o'clock mass, in the Cathedral, in honor of St. Vibiana. Following is the conclusion of his earnest discourse And when the faith was preached in pagan Rome, honors, riches and all earthly joys and ties were, by all classes of men, renounced for its sake, so highly did they prize it. For it, Stephen, Ignatius, Lucy, Vibiana, Agues, Cecilia and Anastasia, and the millions of martyrs "full of faith," poured out their blood like water, and cheerfully laid down their lives. It was the wish to communicate this rare gift to others, to stimulate the zeal of the apostles of municate this rare gift to others, to stimulate the zeal of the apostles of the nations—a St. Patrick in Ireland, a St. Augustine in England, a St. Boniface in Germany, a St. Francis Xavier in the Indies, led the saintly Father Cogues to our land, who was martyred by the Indians. And finally, the holy Archbishop Charles Seghers, who who was assassinated laft November, on the banks of the Yukon River, in Alaska Christopher Columbus, my countrymen, prized so highly the gift of faith that, to bring its light to the savages whom he supposed existed on this hemisphere, he encountered unknown dangers and sustained heroic sufferings in the enterprise of its discovery.

Most of you are from the old country and have come to this strange land—and why? Did your native hills lose their charms for you? Did the ruins of your land and the graves of your ancestors awaken in your bosoms no longer any feelings of attachment and veneration? Have you no affection left for those parents, those brothers and sisters and kindred, left in the old home? Have you forgotten the glories of your faith above every consideration in life. You counted all else as nothing compared with it, and so that you might keep it, you were ready to endure suffering, poverty and persecutions, and abandon all that man holds dear. This is why you are here today and not in France, in England, in Irsland in Stage. cutions, and abandon all that man holds dear. This is why you are here today and not in France, in England, in Ireland, in Spain, in Italy, in Germany. Had your forefathers, or you, chosen to apostatize from your Catholic faith, and deay the truth of Jesus, you could be this moment prosperous and smiling under the favor of emperors, kings and princes in your native countries.

could be this moment prosperous and smilling under the favor of emperors, kings and princes in your native country. Look, again, at the throng of converts who have cast aside position, wealth and fame for that holy faith, and in turn become the heralds of truth to the world. Look once more to St. Vibiana, who esteemed it greater to possess the faith of her fathers in the humble position of a Catholic virgin than to be considered a daughter of a Roman Cæsar or of a prince in that sunny Italy. Thousands, as Santa Vibiana, have given up parents, brothers and sisters and kindred, become poor and outcasts, to gain this pearl of great price, the gift of faith, thus fulfilling the words of our Lord, "He that loveth father or mother more than Me, is not worthy of Me."

O holy faith, for which the Holy Virgin Vibiana died, the missionaries and saints toiled and for which beuse

7,500 saints toiled, and for which the Holy Virgin Vibiana died, the missionaries and saints toiled, and for which houses, lands, parents and friends, and all things, are counted as nothing! Do we prize thee, O divine gift, as these have done? If so, then to us the words of the apostle have a true and living meaning:

meaning:
"Watch ye, or else this gift will be stolen from you." Nations to which the church gave birth, and under whose fostering care they have grown great, have lost the faith. There is not a people upon earth today, as a nation, to whom the holy church can look for defense against persecution, spoliation, and downright robbery. As in the days of paganism, she is surrounded by enemies, and has no one to rely on but her Divine Founder. Why has the faith been stolen from the nations? Because it has first been roblen from the recole.

faith is our force. Our forefathers knew how to die for the faith. Can we not live for it? Be strong in our convictions of its truth. Defend it publicly, politically and privately. We cannot suffer by so doing, for no man is esteemed who is false to his own convictions. Acting thus, we shall be strengthened, and though every one of the enemies of our holy faith were ten thousand, we shall be victors. The hour of death will then be the crowning point of our lives. We shall be able to say, as Santa Vibiana did, with St. Paul:

"I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith."

And the good Lord Jesus will answer

And the good Lord Jesus will answer to us all, as He did to Santa Vibiana:
"Veni sponsa mea de Libano, veni coronderis." Come, O my spouse from the Lebanon, and I will crown thee.

The Judge "Get."

The Judge "Got."

[From the Arkansaw Traveler.]

Judge Whibbledon, of the Twentyninth judicial circuit, is, while on the bench, a man of severe dignity, but in private life he is known as a gentleman of many admirable social qualities. Several days ago the Judge went out into the mountains to rest and amuse himself, and had just dismounted from his horse when a peculiar-looking old fellow came along the rough path that wound its way among the jagged rocks, The old fellow, upon spying the Judge, stopped, looked earnestly, and then an odd smile crept about the corners of his mouth, and, as though seeking an ambush, secreted itself in the old fellow's whiskers.

bush, secreted itself in the old fellow's whiskers.

"Good morning," the Judge pleasantly called.

"Hi."

"Do you live about here?"

"Ah, hab."

"Any fish in this stream?"

"Dunno."

"Plenty of squirrels up there, I sup-

"Plenty of squirrels up there, I suppose?"
"Dunno."
"Think we'll have rain?"
"Dunno."
The Judge, somewhat disgusted, turned away and threw his line into the water. "Chug," a stone struck his cork. He turned quickly, but saw no movement on the part of the old fellow, who sat on a stone with his hands shoved deep into his pockets.
"What was that?" the Judge demanded.

What?"

"Something struck my cork."
"Something struck my cork."
"Don't know nothin' erbout it."
The Judge turned away, and the next moment another stone struck his cork. The Judge turned quickly, but the old fellow sat with his hands in his

"Those that struck my cork. Don't you do it again."
The Judge again devoted himself to his fishing, but not without interruption, for a stone came down and knocked his cork off.

"You confounded old wretch! What's the matter with you?"

"Nothin'. What's the matter with

"You good-for-nothing old rascal, you don't know how to treat a gentle man."

"Don't talk to me that way. You don't know who I am."
"Yas, I reckon I do." The smile sprang from its ambush in his whiskers and pranced over his face. "Sometime ago," said the old fellow, "I was a witness in yo' cou't, an' while I wuz thar you let one o' them lawyers ketch me in a lie an' frowned at me an' rid over me an' hil me down an' cleared yo' throat at me an' shuck yo' head at me an' done everything you could to make an' done everything you could to make me wush that I wuz dead, an' now you "Mean that you must git; mosey 'way frum here. It's my time to make you feel mean. Drop that pole en' git."

"I won't do it, sir."
"Won't you? Wall, we'll see."
He drew an enormous horse-pistol.

"Git!"
"Look out, I—"

"Let me get my hat and coat."
"Never mind. Git!"
The Judge got, and when he returned home he told his wife that he had given his hat and coat to a poor blind man whom he had found in the bills.

and Milk by the Cent's Worth.

[Boston Heraid.]

The question, "How do the very poor manage to live?" has given rise to much speculation and caused the indicting of many wise essays. There are families in Boston who never see a whole dollar of their own at one time, and yet exist year after year in a fair degree of health and spirits. A Herald reporter strolled yesterday through the neighborhood north of Hanover street. Below Endicott, and the result of his inquiries and observations shows that some people are able to dealth and spirits. A grocer in a little shop down several steps in a basement was asked how small quantities of goods he was in the habit of selling to a single customer.

"Well," said he, "we very often sell cent's worth of milk, especially in hot weather. Poor people can't always afford to buy ice, and milk won't keep very long on a day like this, for instance. The cup of tea or coffee wants just a drop of milk to make it look right, or perhaps the baby wants a little to soak its cracker in. So they run here for a cent's worth in the morning, another at noon and another at night. We keep it in the refrigerator, so they are sure it won't sour. That makes it nice and handy for us both, you see,"

"Only 8 cents. We sell a gill for a cent. We couldn't afford to do better. It gives us less than half a cent for our trouble every time we wait on a customer. Then there is butter. We sell a quarter of a pound of butter often, and sometimes an eighth. A poor woman can get a small piece of ice of me for nothing whenever I can spare it, but some grocers sell it by the 5-cents' worth, about six or eight pounds. Tea! I sell by the ounce.

sell a quarter of a pound of butter often, and sometimes an eighth. A poor woman can get a small piece of ice of me for nothing whenever I can spare it, but some grocers sell it by the 5-cents' worth, about six or eight pounds. Tea I sell by the ounce, if desired, at 4 or 5 cents, and coffee by the quarter pound. A good deal of flour is sold by the pound, as the bags at 65 or 75 cents come too high. I get 4 cents a pound for flour. I sell eggs at 2 cents each or sometimes two for 3 cents. Sugar goes in pound lots for 5 and 6 cents. Potatoes, apples and other fruits and vegetables, that can be so measured, are sold by the quart. Kerosene I sell at 2 cents apint, which is just as cheap as I charge by the gallon. If a person comes here with only 1 or 2 cents in his hand I give him that value in anything that can be divided to suit the amount. It may be a half dozen potatoes, three beets or two apples, but he can get it. I realize that poor people cannot buy as they would like, and I meet them half-way."

A provision dealer said the smallest piece of meat he would cut off was half a pound. People would come in and ask for a quarter of a pound of steak, but he had to refuse them. Soup bones were sold by the piece, and were a favorite with a certain class. "One of those Italians will come here," said he, "and buy an old bone for 3 cents, land half a dozen of them will get a dinner out of it." An Italian grocery was visited, and it was ascertained that half a pound of maccaroni could be got for 3 cents, or, a pound for 5 cents. The proprietor of the store though the reporter was about to set up a similar establishment, and was very generous with his information. Among his wares was icc cream at 1 cent a glass, and he was driving a fine trade in this seasonable luxury with a number of bambinos. Further inquiry in the neighborhood developed the fact that beer is sold by the pint, and all kinds of alcoholic liquors by the gill, the latter at 10 cents, by the basket at 25, and by the bag (in some places) at 35. Bad Year for Americans.

[London Letter.]

This has not been a good season for Americans in London society. The revolution was sure to come after the immense social popularity enjoyed by our country people last year. Then the influence of the Prince of Wales was in the ascendant. This season Queen Victoria had everything her own way as regards the court entertainments and the invitations issued for the Jubilee fètes. It is an open secret that not half a dozen Americans were invited to the garden party at Buckingham Palace, for which 7000 invitations were issued. Of this half a dozen nearly all were related by marriage to English families. It was the same with the state balls and concerts. Her Majesty positively vetoed the inviting of any of the transatlantic interlopers. So far has this feeling been carried that when Miss Grace Hawthorne brought out the Shadows of a Great City at the Princess Theater she was warned to admit not a single American to the cast. "We want no Yankees coming over here to take the bread out of the mouths of our own actors and actresses," was the loudly-expressed decision of the theatrical profession and of the dramatic critics of London. Is this reaction against Americans in England never destined to find a parallel in the United States? Must we always worship at the feet of the traveling Briton, be hepeer or player, whether he come in sublime solitude to spy out the weak places in our land, or whether he bring with him a mistress to introduce to the choicest circles of American society? At least the Americans are guiltless of that peculiar formed British social misdemeanor.

An ancient looking darkey who had been told that the price of admission to the race ground was only 10 cents, appeared there yesterday in company with his young wife, who was evidently his second. The Highest Authority.

William Hammond Hall, the State Engineer, who has had years of experience in land and water in California, after a full examination of the Rancho Ex-Mission of San Fernaudo, reports to the owners of the property, the Porter Land and Water Company, as follows: "You have 10.000 to 11.000 acres, and perhaps more, of really first-rate yalley lands for cultivation, with soils not to be surpassed for fertility and desirability by those of any section; lying very favorably for irrigation, and in a neighborhood whose climate is well-adapted to the best class of agricultural, horticultural and vineyard productions usual in this country." Mr. Hall has been employed by the company to devise a complete plan for the trigation of the, tract with the waters flowing from San Fernando, Sycamore and Pacolina creeks, and from the immense clenegas located upon the ranch, and the public may expect the finest water system in California upon this proporty. GENTLEMEN: For twenty years I have had a sore on my left cheek. It had gradually been growing worse. The many physicians whom I had consulted were unable to do me any good. Last fail a year ago I began using S. S. S. At first it inflamed the sore and it became more virulent han ever; so much so, indeed, that my family insisted that I should leave off the medicine. I persisted in using the S. S. S. At the end of two months the sore was entirely healed. Thinking that the evil was out of my constitution, I left off the medicine; but in November, ten months after, a very slight breaking out appeared. I at once began again on S. S. A LOOK AHEAD.

HENRY CLEWS TALKS OF A HUN-DRED YEARS HENCE.

Henry Clews' Personal Recollections. I Suppose we look 100 years ahead, and calculating upon the factors and experiences of the last 100 years, imagine what the picture will be of this town as a city, and this peopie as a nation. I believe that 100 years hence the ern of bridges between this city and those which adjoin it across the rivers will have passed away, and instead of one or two or five bridges across the East river, we will have pneumatic tubes at every pier, and I believe the same will be true on either side and the end of the island. These tubes will spread from New York, as the veins in the human body spread out and are supplied from the heart; for New York is not only the business heart of this country, but it is destined to be, so surely as God permits growth, the business heart of the world, and the weins from this center will distribute the blood all over, and in all directions. Through these pneumatic tubes I believe there will be almost instantaneous communication or transportation of people from one point to another. Nor will this be confined to New York city only. In the near future the Trunk Line Railroad to leading points, such as Washington, Philadelphia, Boston and Chicago, will probably run trains at the rate of 100 miles an hour, and even this will only be a beginning. To admit of this steel rails will be required of double their present weight, and the wheels must be proportionately massive and strong. The risk attendant upon such increased speed will be no greater than the ordinary speed of the present day, say forty miles an hour.

But the time will come, during the next five generations, when the pneumatic tubes will extend from here to these central points of the East and the West and the South; and it will be possible for a man to leave New York at 7 o'clock and go to Chicago for breakfast, transact his business and return to New York for lunch or business appointment by 12 o'clock, noon, of the same day. Of course, one of the problems to be solved in connection with this sort o losses of millions. The obliteration of time is a necessity of American enterprise.

When electricity is made the general propelling power, it is likely that a stationary engine will be located at Miagara Falls, and the force and power of those waters utilized to supply all the needed propelling power for this State, if not even beyond, to removed and far-off sections of our country. I heard it once said by an intelligent authority, that it had been predicted that instead of the coal mines of this country sending their products hundreds and thousands of miles away, for transportation power, at great expense, a stationary engine would be located at the mouth of the mine, and the power derived from the coal transmitted therefrom over an electric wire. This would indeed be a great transformation, and a great improvement, and a great economy. But a greater change, one quite as likely in the future, and perhaps possibly within the lifetime of some of our children, will be the abolition of railroads by the pneumatic tube process, and the transmission of powers as I have suggested.

A hundred years hence, the people, who then occupy our places, will look upon us as primitive and crude, or, in accordance with the Darwinian theory, as the monkeys from which their perfected race has been developed. In fact there is a good deal of Darwinism in our development in a business sense, if not in human sense. As the surroundings grow, so does the intellect of the human race, and there is no telling what we may do or what we may become—provided we live long enough. We have plenty of room, plenty of ing what we may do or what we may become—provided we live long enough. We have plenty of room, plenty of power, plenty of natural ability, and we make our own opportunities; all we lack in this world is time and perfect science, and if time is given us we may be able to show what giants of enterprise free people may become; that as the first choice of God's creation, we lack nothing.

The city of New York donated to the Government the site in the City Hall Park where the New York postoffice now stands. It was the original intention that the building should be only three stories in height. The capping was already on, and the roof was in the primitive stages of construction, when, walking down Broadway one morning, as I passed the structure, the thought occurred to me that, for a building of its size and heavy granite exterior, its height was disproportionate, and gave it a dwarfed appearance and a lack of symmetry. Besides that, whatever space could be added to it by the increase to its height, even though the additional room might be a surplus for the time being, the time would soon come when even more would be needed. I wrote to Architect Mullet, calling his attention to these facts, and insisting that, in confining the building to three stories, he was making a mistake; that it was not in keeping with the magnificence of the structure; that it should have one or more additional stories, with a mansard addition besides, and that the business experience of the past most certainly demonstrated that the room would soon be needed by the Government for the proper conduct of its affairs in this, the greatest business center of the country. Within a week Mr. Mullet called to see me, and I convinced him that I was correct in my criticism and predictions. He said, in reply: "But there is no appropriation; the money appropriated is exhausted, and the building cours to end as I suggest." Mr. Mullet approved of the suggestion, and I added: "I will write to several members of Congress to the same effect." This I did, and i Dering most of my ministry in Washmaton Judge L. P. Poland was a member of the congregation, and so regular and attentive was he than E. B. French, with his stately form and Washington-like face, on the one side, and there was the snow-white head and black eyes and attentive gaze of Judge Poland on the other—two landmarks on which my eyes always fell.

Judge Poland's Washington manner of life was of the simplest kind. Always at home with his family or a few select friends, enjoying reading sloud from some such writer as Dickens, for whose humor he had an especial relish, with no taste for anything unbecoming a man, this is the manner in which he sought relaxation from the public cares, of which he bore so large a burden. I remember a call upon his pastor, which became a historic one. It was during the latter days of a session in Congress, and when they were holding night sessions. So derelict had the members become that absentees were arrested by the Sergeant-at-Arms, brought up before the bar of the House, and subjected to a fine. It happened that on this occasion Judge Foland was thus brought up for the usual penalty. He appeared and accounted for his absence by stating that he had use remitted amid much merriment of the same and the first proper states of the strength of the hills is hers." He began by saying it was not the province of one of his profession to speak of the meaning of the passage as it stood in the Word of God, and then passed to consider the meaning of the words as accommodated to his native State. Vermont never had a more loyal son nor one whose service did her more honor. He loved to expatiate on the simple manners and habits of her people and their regard for sacred things.

Judge Poland died a firm believer in the old orthodox faith in which he had been reared. He seemed to have a feeling that, as he should not think very highly of the judicial opinion of a clergyman, so it did not become him to see him to should be a feel Misquotation.

(Sacramento Bee.)

"With just enough of learning to misquote," is an old quotation, but it is very applicable to some of our most modern novelists. For instance, H. Rider Haggard wrote in "Allan Quatermain":

"In Kubla Khan a river ran
Through caverns measureless to man,
Down to a sunless sea."

The quotation should be, and it is to be found in "Kubla Khan," by Samuel Taylor Coleridge:

-: TO OUR OLD SUBSCRIBERS :-

It is customary with newspapers to give premiums to new subscribers only; but the publishers of the Mirror mean to reverse this old rule; they intend to do as well, at least, by their old subscribers—those who have stood by the paper in years past, and punishers of the shikon mean to reverse this old rule; they intend to do as well, at least, by their old subscribers—those who have stood by the paper in years past, and paid their money for it "right straight along." We propose to show our appreciation of these friends in a substantial manner; and as the premium to be offered is expensive, and as our express object in offering it is to increase our list of subscribers, we will require every old subscriber who may renew his subscription, in order to receive the valuable premium, to bring in AT LEAST ONE NEW SUBSCRIBER, to whom the premium will be given, as well as to the old subscriber.
